UNANIMOUS FOR MARINE

One of the most gratifying signs of the times from an American standpoint is the way the American people have responded to the hearings which have been held in various parts of the country by members of the U. S. Shipping Board in an effort to get the gist of the sentiment of the people of the United States on the American merchant marine. Everywhere in the East and West, the South and the North the response has been that the people of the country want our flag kept on the high seas.

It used to be said that one reason why our merchant marine was not built up, lay in the fact that the people of the Middle West, with their great influence in public life, were cool toward it. That may have been the situation once but times have changed and the Middle Westerner, whose eyes were opened by the great war, and economic development since that time is now as keen for the merchant marine as the citizen who lives nearer the seaboard. In addition, the Middle Westerner is beginning to vision the day when the great central rivers of the country are again to become common carriers, floating the products of the great West down to the seaboard where they can be loaded to great ships and carried to the four corners of the world. And he knows that if there are American ships to carry his produce he will never be held up by any foreign shipping combine and so lose what the rivers have saved for him.

The sentiment has been found so well nigh universal that the Shipping Board officials who have conducted the nation-wide hearing are now thoroughly convinced that the people of the country want the merchant marine and they will so report to Congress.

In a statement at New York, where he was conducting a hearing, Chairman T. V. O'Connor of the Shipping Board declared that sentiment in the country for a merchant marine is unanimous. The goal of the Shipping Board, he added is a fleet big enough to carry at least fifty per cent of the American commerce.

The next session of congress promises to be an important one for many reasons, and one of the biggest of these reasons is that the solution of the merchant marine problem will be taken up. Every enterprising American citizen should use his influence to see that his congressman and senators take the right attitude on this question.

Some European papers declare that Americans act as though they had fought the war alone. No, but it begins to look like we might have to pay for it that way.

Personal Health Service

Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letters should be brief and written in ink. Owing to the large number of letters received, only a few can be answered. Not conforming to instructions. ### THE INDIGESTION REFERENDUM

A total of 774 ballots were cast in the straw vote on the question of indigestion November 16. As the first returns began to come in I realized that I had inadvertently overlooked at least one exception when I said I firmly believe there is no discomfort, distress or trouble annoying or serious enough to call for a remedy or relief, which can be reasonably ascribed to any difficulty in digesting any particular thing. One of the first voters in the referendum filed with his ballot a minority report saying that when his best friend even tastes of a salad containing shrimp the poor fellow's face swells, his eyes water and he becomes severely ill. If this isn't indigestion what in the name of fairness is it? Answer: Allergy, anaphylactic shock—but then, I should have entered this exception in the referendum.

The ballot used in the straw vote was as follows:
It is my personal belief, observation, experience (cross out words not needed), that the following food or foods ..... usually, sometimes, always causes, brings on the trouble, distress, discomfort, pain, illness, nausea, vomiting, flatulence, gas, or (mention any particular manifestation) which we call indigestion. (Cross out words not needed).

(Signed) .....
Thirty-three ballots said that no food ever causes any trouble. Thirty-three healthy minded people, I should say.
About sixty ballots were invalid because voters used them merely to register their views. For instance one voter voted twice to say that sour cherries and molasses at the same meal should never be taken. Another informs me that indigestion is bunk and that moderate indulgence in alcoholic beverages is a sure cure. Another assures me foods never cause it, but hate and anger and other emotions are invariably the cause.

One surprise in the result of the voting was the large number of ballots cast against apples. We doctors ought to hail this with delight, but as a matter of fact I am saddened by the verdict. No less than 70 ballots mention apples as the cause of indigestion, and in most instances they specify raw apples.
Bananas came in for a comparatively moderate condemnation. Sixty-seven voters would have no bananas in Utopia.
Onions were accused by 51 voters. Three specified raw onions, two specified cooked onions. For the rest just onions.

Most ballots listed from three to six different foods. But there were lone votes cast against the following single items: Honey, oatmeal, eggs, cooked onions, green peppers, lemons, raw apples. I dare say many of these cases are instances of allergy or sensitization.

Pork, cabbage, cheese, pia, cucumbers, string beans, lima beans, and just beans, doughnuts, corn bread, sweet potato, sauerkraut, pickles, chestnuts, tomatoes, asparagus, chocolate, "hot breads," are mentioned by various voters.
All fried foods seem to be in ill repute with people who have something to say about it. I don't like to know just what all "em." "All fried foods" appear some two dozen times. To my mind this doesn't cast the slightest suspicion on the cook. Fried food is just as wholesome, healthful and digestible, to my mind, as food cooked or prepared in any other way, from eggs to mush, and a darn sight better tasting, to my palate.

With the exception of the oversight which I have mentioned, the straw vote proved rather disappointing.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Big Price for Old Copy
I see where you claimed you can cure ..... (C. W.)
Answer—I'll pay you $10 for a copy of the paper in which I said I could cure anything.

Housemaid's Knees
Is there any help for what they call housemaid's knees or swelling and soreness so I can hardly walk? I have tried all kinds of liniments but with no relief. (Mrs. J. A. S.)

Answer—Housemaid's knee is inflammation of the lubricating or protective pad or bursa (sac) under the knee cap tendon, generally caused by prolonged kneeling or working on hands and knees as in scrubbing or polishing floors. The remedy is rest. Sometimes the inflammation is in a similar bursa directly over the knee cap. If the pain and swelling do not subside with two or three days rest of the legs (in bandages or splints) it may be necessary to draw off the fluid. It is a mistake to use liniments or counterirritation of any sort for such acute inflammation. You only stir up and aggravate the inflammation by such manipulation. Better wrap the knee with a large amount of cotton batting or other soft covering, and keep it perfectly quiet, preferably with splints. Deal with acute inflammatory conditions like that as you would deal with a broken bone. If any liniment or other counterirritation will be of any service, or if any kind of handling or manipulation has hastened recovery, these things will come in for use later on, when the sharp inflammation has passed.

The Lone Wolf
My little girl has gotten from the school children a grey louse on her head. Please tell me how to kill it. (Mrs. K. J.)

Answer—Saturate the hair for three hours with equal parts of kerosene and vinegar, the child wearing a bathing cap or towel about her head and carefully avoiding fire or flame. Then give her a thorough shampoo. If any lice are found next day repeat the treatment the following day, and every alternate day thereafter until no lice can be discovered. The nits are glued to their shafts close to the scalp. They are best removed by drawing small strands of hair through a soft cloth wet each time with hot vinegar.

More than 9,000 children under 16 years of age were killed or injured on streets of London, England, during 1925, notwithstanding the practice of keeping an experienced policeman near the entrance to schools. In addition, 38 teachers were absent from school as the result of street accidents during 1925, as compared with 25 in 1924.

Try This On Your Reasoner

A worried mother writes: "I have a boy, nearly twenty, who will not save his money and who sits up late every night with his girl friend. This seems silly to me and a waste of his time and hers. I have tried persuasion, indignation and every other means I know to stop him, but it only results in an angry scene. What do you think of the situation? Do you approve?"

Devoted Mother.
For seven months I have been going with a girl my own age and found that she, as well as her parents, like me. A week ago I went to a party and took my first drink. It intoxicated me and I guess I made a fool of myself and the young man who was with me afterward, but she refused to listen permitting my one mistake to outweigh years of proper conduct. Was she right or wrong?

To the mother I say: Read the following letter and see youth's side of the girl question. Continue to urge upon your son the wisdom of thrift and point out that by saving he will be in a position sooner to marry his sweetheart. The two frequent calls is a problem that will solve itself at in good time.

To the boy I say: See the time-ness of this love affair. Your young lady, friend is looking for a fellow like the one described below. Can you blame her? You have within you apparently, the same extreme qualities. Develop them.

The Letter
"While going to college I met a young man and girl six months ago. I went around with him. He was a very nice fellow, so much so that I sometimes felt my company must be a burden to him and could not stand and watch him. He came again each week to become more miserable. But in a quiet, unobtrusive way I was gaining a lot from his friendship, finding him very intelligent, in which his mother is setting a degree, and in the sciences, a branch where his father, who is a college man, has given him valuable assistance. Then slowly but surely, I found that the barrier I had raised against the young man had begun to melt and I could not put up without awkwardness. Two months of this passed without a word of what he thought of my life. He was listening to my mind, he prides himself on his conservativeness and precaution. One day he told me he had received an anticipated answer. I was surprised to learn later that he had written his mother before, received her consent, and was now warning to go slow. He is nineteen and I am eighteen. Young man, you say, but he argues love is a spontaneous thing and cannot be forced or postponed by coming."

"We are both desirous of finishing college. I want him to finish his studies, but I want to go to college. I am proud of the quiet self-assurance with which he has managed affairs, for he honored me by going to college before he proposed, while studying in school and has worked ever since so that he shall be able to pay his own expenses and support his mother and father. There is no financial embarrassment."

"My family have met him, admitted his situation, but fear long term engagements. They are conservative failures by the dozens. We two feel that individual circumstances are all that count further, there is no retreating now, that events must shape themselves, subject to our foresight and moderation. We are willing to go slow for there are at least four years ahead of us."

"Now that you know we are planning our own American future, I think I shall go a step further and thank you for the past. Once I wrote asking you what to do, after long deliberation, after talking to college friends, I decided to buck me up through a most depressing summer, and I gathered a university, this has become my alma mater in the war-time sense of the word. I have been pruned down and polished up until I believe I am a 'diamond' to quote my brother. And I think most of it is due to you, for I wasted most of time deciding that mother's training of honesty was meant for my guidance and not actual work. I managed to infect the family with a corresponding glumness. Now I can talk about it with humor and say I might have been like his last college. Your advice was as forceful as T. N. T."

OUR CONVERSATION CORNER

Fixation
My fourteen-year-old boy, my only child, seems to lack ability to give and take on equal footing. He is not interested in playmates or play activities and seems to be, emotionally speaking, like an elevator, with many ups and downs. What can you advise?"

ANSWER—Possibly with the best of intention, you have, Mother, contributed to what is technically known as "parental fixation" by over-fondling your boy, giving him a disproportionate amount of personal attention, and by manifesting extreme concern over every scratch or hurt he has. "Mother fixation" often comes with an only boy. I urge you to encourage your son to participate in all school activities—football, basketball, baseball, track, swimming, debating, dramatics—anything that will develop the group spirit and the gregarious instinct that is present in all of us.

Eighteen Months
Can one reason with a child of eighteen months?

Mother.
ANSWER—Not much, but one can at least talk to him in a reasonable way. Cock-and-bull tales hamper the reasoning ability of youngsters. Only when we treat a child as a reasonable being can we expect his reasoning facilities to develop.

The Marriage Game

As Played to a Decision Every Day By Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hutton

WORDS, WORDS, WORDS

MR.—It is a surprising world today with many seeming mysteries reduced to the elemental grounds. When Jinx-Jones corporation the well-known druggists will send up to the house an order for about eighty-nine cents and make no charge for the delivery and taking six cents profit on the sale, and yet make big dividends during the year it is rather jarring on a man's sensibilities to read in a newspaper that Young Billy Blank, nineteen, has just been sentenced to the reform school for two or three years because he stole two bits from his employer's till. That shows you my dear, that money is considered with altogether too much importance in the world. Why? We've almost forgotten what happiness is.

MRS.—But, money is the protection and safety of all the people. If we were a nation of serfs there would be no hope for a career. What if all the money in America was divided so that each adult outside the moneyed clan were to receive ten dollars a week, would there not result a terrible revolution. I'm only a woman, but it seems to me that our present plan of fair wages for a fair day's work will always be the best plan.

THE REFEREE: It is Madam's day.

Great American Racing Stars buy The Greatest BUICK Ever Built

Within thirty days after its introduction, the Greatest Buick Ever Built received one of the greatest tributes ever paid a motor car.

Nine internationally famous A.A. speedway stars singled it out, above all other cars, for their personal use and for their families!

Frank Lockhart
"After eight test, I am convinced the 1927 Buick has advanced engineering ideas which make it superior to any motor car built. I purchased this car on its performance, and its roadability which I must have in making the racing circuit from Coast to Coast."

Frank Elliott
"From zero to seventy, there isn't a change in the performance of Buick. I have never driven a car before that was absolutely without a speed where vibration took the joy out of riding. Buick has certainly set a mark for perfect design and workmanship in passenger car construction."

Bennet Hill
"To know there's a real car under you—that's what makes automobilizing—that's why my new Buick—with its silent power-plant and its reliable four-wheel brakes makes me feel better than any car I have ever wheeled."

Here, in brief, is expert opinion on those qualities of vibrationless performance, efficient operation, handling safety and brilliant beauty, which stamp the Greatest Buick Ever Built as the greatest value ever offered.

Fred Comer
"I bought a Buick because I wanted the most automobile I could get for the money spent—most in mechanical perfection—most in style and comfort. Buick gives me all, plus the snappiest passenger job I have ever handled."

Bob McDonough
"I thought I could judge the speed of a car. The smooth, vibrationless operation of my new Buick fools me and I can't tell within 20 miles an hour of its speed unless I watch the gauge. Never have I driven a car that operates with as little effort."

Pete De Paolo
"They named it correctly when they called it the Greatest Buick Ever Built. But they might have added, 'And the greatest value ever offered.' I still think I'm not wasting my money by owning two Buicks."

Earl Cooper
"My mechanic best expressed my opinion of the 1927 Buick, when he said: 'The smoothness of electricity most nearly expresses the feeling its silent power-plant gives you.'"

Cliff Woodbury
"Buick delivers the goods. I never worry about getting there and back—and this new car does it so easily and so quietly that you never know there's an engine under the hood."

Dave Lewis
"The new 1927 Buick convinces me that Buick constantly lives up to its promise—'When better automobiles are built, Buick will build them.'"

LADIES AT PLAY IS COMING TO THE CALIFORNIA

Doris Kenyon, Lloyd Hughes and Louise Fazenda are the featured players in First National's "Ladies at Play," which is coming to the California Theater for two days, starting tomorrow.

The play begins with an intriguing dilemma. The heroine inherits six million dollars provided she finds a husband within a certain length of time, who will qualify in the eyes of two very particular, straight-faced spinster aunts! As the aunts are disgruntled at their own failure to get part of the six million dollars, they make it hard for the heroine. First she tries to force their hands by compromising herself with an unwilling, but to her, eligible man. Then she tries to compromise the aunts! She's a thoroughly resourceful, and unusual heroine, and the story steps long from sob to laugh to thrill to surprise at a rapid rate.

The fourth thrilling chapter of "Snowed In," featuring Allene Ray and Walter Miller, will also be screened on the same program.

Belliardo Files Cross Complaint In Divorce Suit

MARTINEZ, Jan. 8.—John Belliardo, El Cerrito nurseryman, charged with cruelty in a divorce action filed recently by his wife, Mrs. Edna Belliardo, yesterday brought a counter complaint in the Superior court, denying all charges cited.

Belliardo claims that his wife neglected him since 1923 when she joined the divine healing cult headed by Wilbert Leroy Cooper. He claims she has become constantly colder and more indifferent, and that she remained away from home until a late hour at night. The nurseryman alleges that the community property named in his wife's complaint as worth $30,000 and of which she asks one-half, is in reality valued at $15,000.

Union Label League Planning To Hold "Spanish Dance"

A masquerade ball will be given on January 29 by the Union Label league, according to an announcement made yesterday. The public is invited and tickets are now on sale. The event will have Spanish motifs throughout the program; Spanish refreshments will be served, and Spanish music will be secured for the occasion. A decision has been made to change the time of meetings. Instead of meeting every Friday night the league will hold a business session on the second Friday of each month and a social meeting on the fourth Saturday.

"MAGICIAN"

"THE LADY OF THE HAREM" AT THE RICHMOND

Not so long ago, Jesse L. Lasky, first vice president of Paramount, announced the entire cast that take part in "The Lady of the Harem," huge spectacle production which Raoul Walsh directed, and which arrives at the Richmond Theater today.

The featured main roles are enacted by Ernest Torrence and William Collier Jr. The principal feminine players are Greta Nissen and Louise Fazenda. Especially strong is the supporting company, which includes such names as Andre de Beranger, Chester Conklin, Solin, Frank Leigh, Andre Lanoy, Snitz Edwards, Noble Johnson, Daniel Markenko, Christian Frank Leo White and others.

"The Lady of the Harem," it is reported, is the year's largest and most dramatic spectacular production. The story was adapted from a famous stage production, "Hassan."

Because of the production's magnitude, an unusual length of time was invested in the selection of the main players. "The Lady of the Harem," takes place in Khurasan, Persia. The time is during the days of the Arabian Nights. Exterior scenes, using three thousand people, were taken in and around a palace almost half a mile wide and one hundred feet high. One of the many tremendous scenes is the swimming of a wide river by thousands of beggars who go to the rescue of William Collier, Jr. and Greta Nissen, imprisoned by the oppressive Sultan.

Torrence, Collier and Greta Nissen made their most recent triumphs playing together in "The Wanderer." Louise Fazenda will be remembered for her many outstanding comedy successes.

Six months went into preliminary preparations for the picture. Other film features include "Excess Baggage," a Juvenile comedy, and "KinoGrams" world news events.

NOVELTY BILL SHOWING TODAY AT CALIFORNIA

Another great new year show of five acts of vaudeville comes to the California Theater today, in conjunction with Rex Ingram's screen masterpiece "The Magician."

Starting the bill at a merry pace is Monroe and Lauretta, a young dance couple who specialize in toe and shoe novelty and eccentric numbers.

"The Original Gingham Girl," Betty Lou Hart, is a dainty miss who offers song and dance then some trick cycling and finishes with a little comedy number of her own composition. Betty is easy on the eye and she has effectively staged her presentation.

Carol Weston the well known San Francisco violin virtuosa and a pretty accompanist will offer a program of waltz selections that should appeal to all music lovers.

"Follies and Fooleries of 1926" with Lee Mason and "Sonny" fooling the audience with their burlesque bits and impersonations are big timers with a vein of humor that is infectious. Their song cycle is of the comedy order and with real talent to back them up these thespians are always a big hit.

With a bounding wire novelty The Kilties offer some breath taking stunts that reflect great nerve and perseverance on the part of the principals.

Sportographs

GOLF
Francis Li Brown, noted sportsman and amateur golf champion of Hawaii will make bids for honors in the outstanding mainland tournaments this year. His program includes competition in the national, western and California amateur championships.

Co-starring with Muller will be Tut Inlay, former California idol. In addition to the football game the promoters promise to have footballs dropped from aeroplanes and the boys will attempt to catch them.

HOCKEY
Harvard defeated Notre Dame 7 goals to 0 at Boston on Friday night in the first hockey game between the two colleges. Dick Scott, the Crimson center scored three of the goals.

BASKETBALL
What is believed to be the world's record for girls' team scoring was established when the girls' basketball team of the Warren high school, Pennsylvania, defeated the Mt. Jewett high school by a score of 84 to 0 on Friday night at Warren.

Paris and French Riviera Setting For "Magician"

Many locations of historical and pictorial interest in Paris and along the French Riviera were used by Rex Ingram as backgrounds for important scenes of his production of "The Magician," which will have its first showing at the California Theater today.

The famous Latin quarter of Paris on the left bank of the Seine with its Cafe Dome and Cafe Royale, narrow streets and picturesque characters, successful artists and sculptors and those who are resigned to their fate as failures, models who have been beautiful. All these and many more places and people of interest have been transferred on the screen by Rex Ingram in his newest picture.

The Avenue de L'Opera, Rue de la Paix, Place de Madeleine, Place de la Concorde, Notre Dame, Versailles, Saint Cloud and many other places of interest in and about Paris were all utilized as backgrounds for "The Magician."

Monte Carlo with its famous Casino and surrounding hotels and cafes, Cannes and Nice, the exclusive winter resorts of Europe and the high Alps in Switzerland, where many of the scenes of the Sorcerer's Tower were made were all photographed during the filming of the famous Somerset Maugham story.

The pictorial beauty of Rex Ingram's pictures has been firmly established by his past performances and with the atmosphere of the old world in which to work he has taken advantage of all his opportunities in "The Magician." Before starting work on the picture he spent weeks traveling through France and Switzerland selecting locations.

In many instances he encountered great difficulty in working on actual locations due to the fact that the narrow streets of the Latin quarter were without sunlight excepting for a few hours of a day. In such instances it was necessary to use large reflectors and even then they could work for only a short time.

Alice Terry, Paul Wegener, Firmin Gémier and Ivan Pavlovich have the leading parts in "The Magician." Rex Ingram prepared the scenario and adaptation.

TREND OF CARS
TOWARD THRIFT
SAYS J. STROM

"The whole trend of the automotive manufacturing and merchandising world is toward thrift today," says J. P. Strom, Willys-Knight and Whippet dealer.

"Viewed in the light of the new features of car design and construction, the automobile today is seen as a fear-in-and-year-out proposition, bought to last not one season or year, but several. The local car dealer is naturally forced to assume a much larger responsibility for the motorist's satisfaction in ownership, because adequate service facilities, parts, and supplies must primarily be provided by him. The responsibility of the dealer for the continued good operation of the cars he sells will extend over a period of years, and the car purchaser will be likely henceforth to buy from a dealer who is permanently established."

By JANET PAIGE

Dear Janet Paige:
I attended a dinner party the other night at which I was the youngest guest and only single girl present. The guests remained late after midnight and at last I made the first move to leave although I felt that it was not my place to do so. Was I right?

EVA.
Eva: Those things of course are largely dependent on the general atmosphere of the party. If the host and hostess were attempting to hold their guests and were especially enjoying themselves, this was probably no imposition upon them on the part of the late-stayers. But if there was no great exhilaration of spirit, it is quite natural to suppose that they began to hope the guests would leave before the small wee hours. If this were the case, then you were very tactful and considerate even if, as you say, it was not entirely within your province, as the young and single member of the party. One of the married women should have suggested the departure at—say eleven-thirty or shortly after.

GREAT DEMAND FOR NEW TYPE OF CHEVROLET

A tremendous volume of orders that has simply swamped the branch Chevrolet factory plants throughout the country is reported from the Detroit offices of the big motor car company from which point only a week ago came the announcement of the new line and a new and lower scale of prices.

Dealers here on the Pacific coast have been handicapped during the first week since the introduction of the new line by lack of cars as the factory in Oakland has been unable to keep up with the orders.

"However," predicts Harry C. Golden, Richmond Chevrolet dealer, "the plant is beginning to catch up a little on orders and we hope to be getting cars with only slight delay at most under the new 1927 schedule of a million cars for the year."

Following the same lines of optimism as those expressed by Golden is the forecast of good business for the first half of 1927 by H. H. Grant, vice president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor company.

"There is no evidence on the industrial horizon that would indicate anything but a promising outlook for the early months of the year," Grant declares. "Labor continues to be well employed, the national per capita wealth is the greatest on record, the agricultural outlook is improving and banks are acknowledging more cash than ever."

"The motor industry is preparing for an unusually active year. The recognized advantages of automobile ownership and the fact that today's motor car offers the greatest dollar value in the history of the industry, are giving a constant impetus to sales. As a result, production this year should compare favorably with the output of 1926."

"Replacement of old cars in the United States will require approximately 2,000,000 units in 1927. Export markets bid fair to take close to one million cars and trucks of American manufacture. New owners coming into the market in this country during the next twelve months will require a million cars or more. In addition, there is a rapidly growing tendency toward the ownership of two or more cars in the same family."

"Reports from the Chevrolet dealer and field organizations, from all quarters of the United States, reflect the optimism which we at home hold for the early new year. Acting on the belief that the year will be a highly profitable one for American business, the Chevrolet Motor company is planning a further increase over the record production of 1926, which exceeded the company's best previous performance by more than 40 percent."

"Extended plans, which the organization has arranged for the year, are based not on enthusiasm alone but on the well-founded conviction that the new Chevrolet car will make a very strong appeal to the public and that conditions will remain stabilized and show a steady upward movement in the first six months of 1927."

The unexpected drop in price that came at the same time as the announcement of the new models has undoubtedly had considerable effect upon the volume of sales, according to Golden. "The new models are really wonderful, but the price cut with them makes the line a wonderfully attractive one from every angle," said Golden.

The Stories of and in the Bible

By Shailer Mathews

There are few primitive peoples who do not have stories of a great flood. In Egypt, China, and Japan they are lacking, but they are to be found in such widely separated lands as Greece and Kamchatka, Australia and Hawaii, India and America. Most interesting, perhaps, of all is the Babylonian story of a vast deluge, which was discovered in 1872 in the great library of Nineveh, and which was gathered by the King Ashur-bani-pal in Mesopotamia. It is in an epic poem telling of a hero called Gilgamesh. According to this story, the gods were offended by the sins of a certain city and proposed to destroy it. A pious man was told to build a huge vessel and to put on board his friends and animals. The flood came, and the vessel floated on a sea of water. The vessel was built on a hill, and the flood subsided. The vessel was built on a hill, and the flood subsided.

The Bible account in some of its details is similar to that of the Gilgamesh epic. Perhaps they both preserve ancient beliefs of humanity. Genesis in fact contains two accounts of the deluge. Like those of the deluge, these two accounts have been so admirably combined, however, despite certain inconsistencies as to the number of animals taken into the ark, to make a continuous narrative vastly superior to any of the traditions found in the literature of other peoples. For the Bible account of the Flood is a terrible picture of the punishment of sin.

But how could men made in the "image of God" living in a good world ever come to sin? That is a question thinkers of every age, especially our own, have tried to answer. The biblical account, in the ancient writings that speak of God as Yahweh, is profoundly true psychologically.

In the Garden of Eden was the Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil. Yahweh tells the Man (the Hebrew word for man is Adam) he must not eat of it. But a snake persuades the Woman, Eve, that Yahweh is afraid man would come to be like him a fully moral being. And Eve is fully persuaded, and she eats the forbidden fruit. She eats the fruit, and she gives some to Adam, and he eats it. Thus man by disobedience comes to a knowledge of evil as distinguished from good. Instantly fear and shame seize the pair. Yahweh comes to the Garden, but the two guilty persons see that they are naked and flee. Yahweh punishes them by driving them from the Garden, forcing them to labor to get food from an unwilling earth. The snake he condemns to crawl on the ground, ever to be an enemy of mankind, but with the promise that it shall be conquered by humanity. Evil is thus not to be finally triumphant. But never again could humanity return to the garden of innocence. They knew evil by doing wrong.

You can well read this account in Genesis, chapters 2 and 3 again and again. You will not find profounder insight into our moral nature in any teaching.

And then the narrative goes on to develop the tragedy of sinful humanity. Cain, the first child of the Man and Woman, kills his brother Abel and is made an outcast by Yahweh. Wickedness spreads through his descendants. Cities begin to be founded. Even the descendants of the third son of Adam and Eve, though they began to call upon the name of Yahweh, were wicked, except the family of "Enoch, who walked with God."

Yahweh was troubled by such a perversion of a race intended for purity. He "repented that he had made man on the earth." Chapter 5 of Genesis gives an account of the descent of a sinful humanity from Adam, through Cain and Seth. These descendants lived to a very old age, one of them, Methuselah, being 969 years old when he died. But the growth in numbers paralleled a growth in wickedness, and to lessen this wickedness, Yahweh determined that men should not live more than 120 years. Furthermore, the wickedness was increased by the fact that the "sons of God" married human wives who then gave birth to a race of giants, whom later Jewish teaching held were evil; holding that Hell was made as their place of punishment. Yahweh determined to blot mankind from the earth.

But Noah, great-grandson of the good Enoch, was pious and found grace in the eyes of Yahweh. He was to become the second founder of humanity. In anticipation of the coming Flood, he was commanded by Yahweh to build an ark or huge vessel about 187 feet long, 31 feet wide, and 49 feet deep. It was to have an open space one and a half feet wide running around the top, and a door upon its side, and three decks. Noah was further commanded to take three pairs of clean animals and an extra male for sacrifice and two of those that were unclean. So Noah did as he was told and when 600 years old took his entire family and the beasts and birds into the ark. Yahweh shut them in. The Flood came both from the waters which surrounded the earth and the waters which were above the firmament. It covered the mountains and killed off every living thing which lived upon the earth: man, cattle, creeping things and fowls. Finally the Flood receded and Noah sent out a dove which could find no dry land and returned to the ark. After a week he sent out the dove again and it brought back an olive leaf. Noah then waited another week and again sent forth the dove and it never came back. Noah then opened the ark and saw the earth was dry. He came from the ark, built an altar to Yahweh and offered sacrifice. Yahweh promised never again to curse the ground for man's sake and never again to attempt the destruction of humanity. Men could now trust the order of the seasons.

But sin had not been destroyed by the Flood. After Noah with his three sons had come out from the ark he planted a vineyard and became drunk and lay naked within his tent. Canaan, the son of Ham, spied him out and told Shem and Japheth. These, more reverent, took a garment and walking backward covered their father without looking at him. When Noah became sober again he cursed Canaan, declaring he should be the servant of his brethren, and

POINT RICHMOND BAPTIST CHURCH

Bible school at 10 a. m. Morning worship at 11 a. m.

The pastor and his wife will give a little skit between Sunday school and church on a trip around the world in an aeroplane. It will be in the interest of the Northern Baptist World tour and the plane will be there.

Sunday morning the theme will be, "The Only Foundation." The question asked will be, what kind of a foundation are YOU building your life upon? Is it theater or the church? Jesus Christ is the only foundation. 1 Cor. 3:11. Choir practice Wednesday night at 8:15.

blessed Shem and Japheth, both of whom were to use Canaan as their servant, thus pointing out the reason why the Canaanites were to be the subject of the Semites.

How are we to understand this narrative? The Bible itself tells us. Even, if it seems probable, the writer of Genesis relates one of the ancient stories of his race, he has made it a vehicle for setting forth great truths. Until we see these lessons we fail to appreciate the real purpose of the author. He meant to illustrate how righteousness brings blessing and sin brings divine punishment. But as in the case of the Fall, he also means to teach that humanity is to live always without fear of nature. Seed time and harvest are to follow each other. The rainbow was to be the brilliant symbol of faith. The God of Nature was to be trusted. Sin was to be punished in other ways than by Floods. Men were to be saved from the consequences of sin by religion and not by huge ships.

Thus Genesis by its Flood narrative lifts the thought of men into the higher realms of duty, repentance, faith in God and true religion. The real and sublime purpose of the writers of the Bible is not merely to preserve ancient traditions or satisfy historical or scientific curiosity. They seek to help men to understand their own natures, and to find the answer for their deepest questions in their faith in a God who is not only Creator but a moral Governor.

FONG WAN Specialized in Kidney and Bladder Trouble for many years

No one should give up his Herbs until completely recovered, or has given them a good fair trial.

Mr. John P. Hodge, a well-known merchant of the Oakland Free Market for many years, testified as follows:

Oakland, Calif.

My son Harold had been troubled with bloody urine and pain for several years. He tried a number of physicians, but not one seemed able to do him any good. One said that no relief was possible without an operation.

One of our friends who had been benefited by the FONG WAN HERB TREATMENT suggested that we try him. He supplied my son with herbs to cook at home. After having drunk the tea for a little more than two months, Harold is now in the finest condition. Although words cannot express our happiness, we are glad to give this testimonial regarding the ability of the FONG WAN HERB TREATMENT.

JOHN P. HODGE, 988 Fifth St.

Terrible Suffering With Bladder Trouble for Many Years

Oakland, Calif.

Mr. Mike Church, employee of the So. Pac. Co. lost 25 pounds in weight during his illness. He took the Fong Wan Herb Treatment for about three months. He was completely relieved 30 years ago, gained 30 pounds in weight and has remained well ever since. His testimonial reads:

For eleven years I suffered from kidney and bladder trouble. I could not pass urine without tears of pain. I had to go every few moments, but only a few drops came. Some doctors called my trouble swollen glands, while others said it was a stricture. Sometimes the elimination was accompanied by big clots of blood. During all those years I sought relief in vain. Then a friend took me to the FONG WAN HERB SPECIALIST and after I had taken his herbs for a little more than three months I was entirely cured. This was some time ago, but I have had no return of the trouble and am still in splendid condition.

MIKE CHURCH, 1112 Lincoln St.

Mr. Haskell Completely Relieved

Oakland, Calif.

Mr. H. Haskell was very much discouraged after two months of the Fong Wan Herb treatment and wished to quit. He was urged to continue the herbs and was completely relieved after three months of the Fong Wan Herb treatment. His testimonial follows:

I suffered for many years from sores of the stomach and from bladder trouble. After years of treatment without results, I became very much discouraged and feared that I should never again be well. One day I saw in the newspaper a testimonial that Mr. P. Oliver had given to the FONG WAN HERB TREATMENT. As his case had been similar to mine, I called upon Mr. Oliver and learned from him that everything stated in that testimonial was true. I then began to faithfully take the FONG WAN HERB TREATMENT and after three months I was a well man. At the time of this writing my blood test is negative and my bladder is in splendid condition.

HERBERT H. HASKELL, 1112 Lincoln St.

Why Endure Bladder Trouble?

Mr. Gasburg, 1678 10th St., Oakland, had bladder trouble for many years' standing. It took him only five months' time to secure complete recovery. He has testified to his recovery in an Oakland court on May 8th, 1918.

Will Enjoy a Happy New Year Blood Test Shows
Negative

Dec. 28, 1926.
At the beginning of last summer my blood test showed two positives; that is, two x's. It had previously been four x's (positives).

After I failed to get relief from treatments of hypodermic shots and herbs a trial. I drank the herbs for only one month. Nevertheless when I had a blood test taken again on Dec. 24, 1926, the test showed negative. My blood is thoroughly cleansed and is O. K. at last. I shall certainly enjoy a Happy New Year. Because of my gratitude for the Fong Wan Herb Treatment, I am glad to give this testimonial.

Buick Builds Quarter Million Cars In Year

Having recently built the one million, seven hundred and fifty thousand Buicks, the Buick Motor company is now on its way to the production of its two millionth car. Completion of a million and three-quarters automobiles was the occasion of something of a demonstration at the Buick plant.

E. T. Strong, former general manager of the Buick company and now its president, was on hand to witness the epochal event. This demonstration of manufacturing efficiency was secondary, however, to the car which is shown above being examined by Strong. The new Buick president has played an important part in the achievements which this car represents.

In November, 1925, Buick celebrated the building of car number 1,500,000. November 1926 marks the building of this car, number 1,750,000. Strong is justly proud of the fact that the last quarter million cars were produced within twelve months, while it took about twelve years to build the first quarter million. Of the one and three-quarter million cars built and sold, a million and a half have been delivered to consumers since Strong took up the reins as general sales manager of the company ten years ago.

The car pictured is the Convertible Coupe, a deluxe model on the Series 128 chassis. It is the newest Buick model, and is an example of the latest trend in body design. It is equipped with leather upholstery, a deck seat and a top which may be raised or lowered, according to the season. The windows may be placed in any position, regardless of whether the top is up or down. This model was introduced November first and will be one of the new features at the automobile shows this winter.

NATATORIUM TO BE CLOSED FOR ABOUT 6 WEEKS

It is estimated that six weeks work will be required to thoroughly renovate and repair the Richmond Municipal natatorium, City Engineer E. A. Hoffman announced yesterday. The natatorium will be closed January 15 and will probably reopen about March 1. The entire building will be painted and the equipment overhauled; improvements are being considered.

Approximately 110,000 people have enjoyed the privileges of the natatorium since its opening last March 20. No serious accidents have occurred since that time, and the equipment installed has functioned admirably.

BANDIT SHOT IN ATTEMPT TO MAKE ESCAPE

Frank Vargas, well known gunman, was probably fatally shot as he attempted to escape from the custody of Berkeley police yesterday. Vargas had been removed from the Alameda county jail and taken to Berkeley for questioning. He remained in the city jail overnight. Yesterday morning Policeman Vern Smith and Inspector W. J. Wilson were taking him to a restaurant for breakfast when he made his sensational attempt to escape by throwing pepper into the eyes of his guardians. Smith, though blinded for the moment, wrenched out a gun and shot the bandit as he was about to get away. The bullet entered Vargas' left side and came out near his heart. He was taken to the Berkeley General hospital where physicians report that he has little chance for recovery.

Vargas became widely known several years ago as the Pergola bandit. Since his release from San Quentin on a charge of highway robbery he has "shot it out" with the police on numerous occasions. Vargas was served with a warrant by federal officers Thursday charging that he used a stolen auto in interstate travel.
